Dear Teacher,

This book was created to support your daily instruction in conventions and writing skills. There are 100 lessons. The lessons were designed to fit into a brief 10-minute time frame and are ideal for morning work or mini-lessons preceding a writing lesson. Each lesson introduces a vocabulary word, and the questions that follow use that vocabulary word in context.

The first three questions are multiple-choice and address conventions. The last exercise is a writing skill that requires the implementation of the vocabulary and conventions reviewed during that lesson.

Since there is only one lesson per page, you can use a document camera, create an overhead transparency, or make student copies of each day’s lesson.

This book is divided into four categories:

- Pages 4-30 - Spelling
- Pages 31-57 - Capitalization
- Pages 58-84 - Punctuation
- Pages 85-107 - Sentence Combining

You may follow a numerical sequence, or not, in order to meet the needs of your students.

Convention Rules
Convention Rules

Capitalization Rules
1. Capitalize the beginning of every sentence.
   Ex. Lately, the scores of the writing assessments have improved.
2. Capitalize the beginning of a quote.
   Ex. My mom shouted, “Make sure to lock that back door!”
3. Capitalize the specific name of a person (and his or her title), a place, or a thing, otherwise known as proper nouns.
   Ex. When Mom comes over, we will start painting.
   or
   Mr. Tom Smith; San Francisco, California; Honda, Saturn Elementary, Queen Elizabeth; German Shepard
4. Capitalize the abbreviations for proper nouns.
   Ex. FBI, NBC, FCAT
5. Capitalize adjectives derived from proper nouns.
   Ex. America-American flag; England-English course; Germany-German food
6. Capitalize the pronoun I.
   Ex. You and I must meet for lunch sometime.
7. Capitalize the most important words in a title.
   Ex. We are required to read, The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe.

Punctuation Rules
Periods
1. Use a period at the end of a statement.
   Ex. Tom rides his bike to school.
2. Use a period at the end of a command.
   Ex. Please take out a pencil.
3. Use a period at the end of an indirect question.
   Ex. Jill asked if she could go to the movies with Kim.
4. Use a period between dollars and cents.
   Ex. I paid $5.25 for lunch.
5. Use a period before a decimal number.
   Ex. Only 38.5% of the country’s population came out to vote on Election Day.
6. Use a period after the initial in a person’s name.
   Ex. Her full name is Mrs. Karen H. Franklin.
7. Use a period after an abbreviation.
   Ex. On Dec. 25 we celebrate Christmas.

Question Marks:
1. Use a question mark at the end of a sentence that asks a question.
   Ex. Are you going to the Brevard Zoo with us?
2. Use a question mark inside the quotation mark when the quote is a question.
   Ex. He asked, “Where did Sally and Sam go on vacation?”
Commas
1. Use commas between words, phrases, or clauses in a series.
   Ex. Being comfortable with writing, conferencing with peers, and knowing conventions are important skills.
2. Use commas to set off items in a list and items in a date.
   Ex. On August 28, 1963, Martin Luther King, Jr., gave his famous “I Have a Dream” speech.
   Note: No comma is placed between the state and zip code. Also when only the month and year are given, no comma is needed.
   Ex. In January 2029 we will celebrate the 100th anniversary of Reverend King’s birth.
3. Use a comma to set off the words of the speaker from the rest of the sentence.
   Ex. The stranded motorist replied, “I’m just waiting for the tow truck.”
4. Use a comma between two independent clauses that are joined by the coordinating conjunction and, but, or, nor, for, so, or yet.
   Ex. Aunt Carrie offered to pay my way, so I am going to the Brevard County Fair with her.
5. Use a comma to separate a long phrase or clause that comes before the main part of the sentence.
   Ex. After checking my knee pads, I started off.
6. Use commas to set off a word, phrase, or clause that interrupts the main thought of a sentence.
   Ex. You could, for example, take the dog for a walk instead of watching TV.
7. Use a comma to separate an interjection or a weak exclamation from the rest of the sentence.
   Ex. Wow, look at that sunrise!
8. Use commas to separate a noun of direct address (the person being spoken to) from the rest of the sentence.
   Ex. Maria, some puppies are ready for adoption.
9. Use commas to separate two or more adjectives that equally modify a noun.
   Ex. There are plenty of nutritious, edible plants in the world.
10. Use commas to set off an appositive. An appositive is a word or phrase that is another way of saying the noun or pronoun before it.
    Ex. Billy, my next-door neighbor, rode bikes with me after school.
    Note: Only use commas when the descriptive word or phrase comes after the noun or pronoun before it. You would not use commas if this was reversed.
    Ex. My next-door neighbor Billy rode bikes with me after school.

Semicolons
1. Use a semicolon to connect closely-related thoughts or consequences. A semicolon is used to join two groups of words which could be separate, complete sentences—without the use of conjunctions such as and, but, or for.
   Ex. My parents are extremely interested in my grades; they want me to do well in school.
2. Use a semicolon to separate items in a series when the items themselves contain commas.
   Ex. For school this year I need notebooks; red, blue, and black pens; and supplies like glue, scissors, and a ruler.
3. Use a semicolon before a conjunctive adverb, such as however, therefore, and furthermore, when it joins two independent clauses in a sentence.
   Ex. She has an excellent job; however, it has been over two years since she has taken a vacation.

Colons
1. Use a colon between two complete ideas when the second idea explains the first.
   Ex. Gregory spent all his money: he had shopped all day at the mall.
2. Use a colon to introduce lists or examples.
   Ex. Mom made my favorite meal: salad, stuffed shells, Italian sausage, and garlic bread.
   Do not use a colon to introduce a list that is the object of the sentence. If the first part of the sentence cannot stand alone as a complete sentence, you should not use a colon.
   Ex. Mom made: salad, stuffed shells, Italian sausage, and garlic bread. (Incorrect use of colon)
3. Use a colon between titles and subtitles.

4. Use a colon between volumes and page numbers.
   Ex. Last night I read Superman Comics 22:34.

5. Use a colon between chapters and verses.
   Ex. Please read and memorize John 3:16.

6. Use a colon between hours and minutes when showing time.
   Ex. I am going to see the dentist at 2:30.

7. Use a colon after the salutation in a business letter.
   Ex. Dear Sir: To Whom it may concern:

Apostrophes/Possessives

1. Use an apostrophe where letters or numbers have been deleted—as in a contraction.
   Ex. I didn’t want to go to the grocery store after work.

2. Use an apostrophe at the end of a name where there is singular ownership.
   Ex. My friend’s dog is an Italian Greyhound.

3. Use an apostrophe after the s if there is plural ownership.
   Ex. The cookies’ aroma was almost unbearable because we were so hungry.
   If the plural does not end in s, the apostrophe is placed after the word and before the s.
   Ex. Our store carries women’s hats, children’s shoes, and men’s accessories.

4. If a possessive noun ends in s, one has a choice: each example is correct.
   Ex. Thomas’s room is a complete disaster. OR Thomas’ room is a complete disaster.

5. Use an apostrophe only on the last name in a list when there is joint ownership.
   Ex. Karly, Frank, and Debbie’s group project received superior marks.

6. If several owners are listed but they do NOT have joint ownership, make each one a possessive.
   Ex. Susan’s, Jill’s and Nancy’s shoes are all cherry red. (each has a separate pair)

7. Use an apostrophe and an s to form the possessive before a gerund.
   Ex. For years, Harold’s swimming has been his passion.

Usage

Subject Verb Agreement

1. Compound subjects connected by and need a plural verb.
   Ex. Theresa and Laine love to write.

2. In sentences with compound subjects connected by or or nor, the verb must agree with the subject that is nearer the verb.
   Ex. Neither Rob nor Julie likes the movie.
   whereas,
   Neither Rob nor his friends like the movie.

3. When the subject is separated from the verb by words or phrases, check carefully to see that the subject agrees with the verb.
   Ex. JoAnn, as well as Julie and Amy, teaches English.

4. When the subject comes after the verb in a sentence, you must check carefully to see that the “true” subject agrees with the verb.
   Ex. Our in the field are two kinds of flowers.
   Ex. Behind those tool sheds is the garage.

Verb Tense

1. The present tense of a verb states an action (or state of being) that is happening now or that happens regularly.
   Ex. I like soccer. We practice soccer every day.

2. The past tense of a verb states an action or (state of being) that happened at a specific time in the past.
   Ex. George kicked the soccer ball. He was the goalie.
3. The future tense of a verb states an action (or state of being) that will take place.
   Ex. I will like soccer forever. We will practice every day.

4. The present perfect tense states an action that is still going on. Add has or have before the past participle form of the main verb.
   Ex. Lisa has studied for over two hours so far.

5. The past perfect tense states an action that began and ended in the past. Add had before the past participle.
   Ex. JoAnn had studied for two hours before she left for school.

6. The future perfect tense states an action that will begin in the future and end at a specific time. Add will have before the past participle form of the main verb.
   Ex. Rob will have slept for 12 hours by 8 a.m. tomorrow.

Spelling Rules

1. Write i before e—except after c or when the word rhymes with say as in neighbor and weigh.
   Ex. believe, chief, receive, Freight (some exceptions: either, foreign, neither, height, heir, seize, leisure, weird, species)

2. If a word ends with a silent e, drop the e before adding a suffix (ending) that begins with a vowel.
   Ex. judge—judging; create—creative; continue—continual; relate—relating

3. When a word ends in a consonant + y, change the y to i before adding a suffix. Do not, however, change the y when adding the ing suffix.
   Ex. happy—happiness; try—trying; lady—ladies; cry—crying
   When forming the plural of a word that ends in a y with a vowel just before it, add s.
   Ex. holiday—holidays; key—keys; boy—boys

4. When a one-syllable word ends in a consonant that has a single vowel before it, double the final consonant before adding a suffix that begins with a vowel.
   Ex. beg—begging; hop—hopped; sit—sitting
   When a word with more than one syllable ends with a vowel + consonant, double the final consonant only if the accent is on the last syllable and the suffix begins with a vowel.
   Ex. admit—admitting; occur—occurrence
